Comments: I am against animal testing. It is cruel,inhumane and absolutely out dated in 2007.

There has been no head way made in regard to testing the responsible and more accurate way with human tissue,computer modulation and human DNA.

Animals DON'T have our DNA and are bad models to base any type of validity for new products and medicines.

The Europeans are using alternative methods as stated above and are producing a better outcome for new methods of testing.

I am asking this organization to move into the 21st century and STOP testing on animals and approve other methods.

There are companies in the marketplace that are doing breakthrough research and they aren't using animals.

Too many medicines and products are being recalled and in lawsuits due to inproper testing on animals. It dosen't work and the people and animals of the U.S. are suffering because of this.

It must be stopped at your level and allow the companies to stop using animals.

Move our country into the current direction and move away from animal testing.
